Subject: labels on Genetically Engineered foods

Sensitivity: Personal

ATT58644.htm

I am writing this e-mail to ask you to consider labeling Genetically Engineered foods. I have read numerous articles outlined the alleged dangers and supposed safety of such foods. I have seen both sides of the issue and it is clearly confusing. To me, the answer is clear, allow the general consumer public to be aware of the foods we eat and let us make the choice.

We, the consumers, have a right to know what we are eating. That's been the reason for all labeling laws and should not stop with GE foods.

Are they truly safe? I don't know and I suspect neither does anyone at the USDA. However, it is possible that these foods are not safe! I want to know that if I buy it, I will be responsible for it....it should certainly save you money from law suits in the future!

Thank you for considering my plea for TRUTH!
